

JIM CAMP

Jim Camp grew up in central North Carolina. He attended East Carolina University and graduated from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale with a BS in Industrial Engineering, also earning a Master's in Public Administration. After retiring from the U.S. Air Force, Jim and his wife Susan settled first in York County. Jim spent the next 26 years working in facilities management and engineering with Federal Electric Corporation, Gloucester County Public Schools, and Ameresco, Inc. an energy services company based in Framingham, MA, retiring in 2013. Jim and Susan moved to Gloucester County in 1994 and have supported GMHS ever since. Jim and Susan are cat people and always have one, two or three to keep them company. The current furry residents are M. Shaddow (7) and Orlando (4). Jim and Susan have an established bird habitat (and an unintentional squirrel sanctuary) and enjoy watching the wildlife that visit on a daily basis. Jim plays golf and enjoys traveling, gardening, and serving as Treasurer of the Gloucester Point Rotary and President of the Foundation. He looks forward to participating in the continued growth and prosperity of GMHS.
